

Trainer Information Sheet

Andrew was born in Australia in 1973, he returned to Europe with his parents near the end of high school and then went on to study European Studies at London South Bank University. He lived for a time in London where he grew a diverse network of linguists and education professionals.

Andrew is a dynamic teacher who injects his passion for languages into every lesson and energises his alumni by using a broad range of materials, both technological and traditional. His deep knowledge of phonetics and language equip him to aid his students in their quest to improve their language skills.