

Trainer Information Sheet

Sabra De Luca Ashwell after briefly working for Lloyds bank and in property management in the uk realized her real vocation was for teaching. So after graduating in English Literature she became a qualified ESL teacher.

She joined the Language Center and was for 10 years course coordinator for English Language programs and supported the core team of trainers involved in creating material for TLC's managerial programs. She was introduced to the use of NLP techniques in teaching and since has been looking into methodologies for teaching preschoolers.

Currently she remains a key TLC staff member giving didactic support on european funded projects such as Alpha.EU and CLIL for kids while still being actively involved in teaching business english and managerial programs aimed at helping professionals improve their soft skills.